If you have not registered as a learner but are simply making an enquiry or request for information, we will use your personal information to reply to your enquiry or request. We will not use this information for marketing purposes without your permission or unless you invite us to do so.

Protecting your personal information

Even though we take appropriate technical steps to protect your security, you should remember that data transmission over the internet cannot always be guaranteed as 100% secure so you use the website at your own risk.

Breach Notifications

Should personal information be at risk of a breach, or it is found that it has been breached, all Showcase Training employees are responsible for reporting as soon as possible. We will report certain types of personal data breach to the relevant supervisory authority within 72 hours of becoming aware of the breach, where feasible. If the breach is likely to result in a high risk of adversely affecting individuals' rights and freedoms, we will also inform those individuals without undue delay. We will review our existing procedures to ensure we have robust breach detection, investigation and internal reporting procedures in place. This will facilitate decision-making about whether or not we need to notify the relevant supervisory authority and the affected individuals.

We will also keep a record of any personal data breaches, regardless of whether we have been required to notify relevant authorities. Please refer to <https://ico.org.uk/for-organisations/guide-to-the-general-data-protection-regulation-gdpr/personal-data-breaches/> for further information.

For Employees

Personal data breaches may include:

- Access by an unauthorised third party;
- deliberate or accidental action (or inaction) by a controller or processor;
- sending personal data to an incorrect recipient;
- computing devices containing personal data being lost or stolen;
- alteration of personal data without permission; and
- loss of availability of personal data.

A personal data breach can be broadly defined as a security incident that has affected the confidentiality, integrity or availability of personal data. In short, there will be a personal data breach whenever any personal data is lost, destroyed, corrupted or disclosed; if someone accesses the data or passes it on without proper authorisation; or if the data is made unavailable and this unavailability has a significant negative effect on individuals.

Please refer to this policy regarding any data breaches and report any concerns directly to your line manager or the Data Protection Officer (Ellen Mould). We will utilise the above link to the ICO website to follow their official guidelines on reporting breaches on a case-by-case basis; however, a basic process will be as such:

1. Gather as much information as possible regarding:
 - What information has been breached;
 - How it has been accessed;
 - By whom;
 - When (including date and time).
2. Report this to the Data Protection Officer immediately via email, who will then contact you via phone to confirm all details and parties involved.

The Data Protection Officer will then advise on:

1. Assess the scope of the data breach including:
 - The likelihood and severity of the resulting risk to people's rights and freedoms;
 - The level/amount of information taken, and to what extent this can be attributed to identify an individual;
 - The severity of the breach and how many it has affected;
 - How it has occurred;
 - If the breach was malicious/deliberate or accidental
2. Try to contain the breach
3. Assess the potential adverse consequences for individuals, based on how serious or substantial these are, and how likely they are to happen.
4. Report the breach to the ICO.

Recital 85 of the GDPR explains that:

"A personal data breach may, if not addressed in an appropriate and timely manner, result in physical, material or non-material damage to natural persons such as loss of control over their personal data or limitation of their rights, discrimination, identity theft or fraud, financial loss, unauthorised reversal of pseudonymisation, damage to reputation, loss of confidentiality of personal data protected by professional secrecy or any other significant economic or social disadvantage to the natural person concerned."

Keeping Personal Data

We keep personal data and Learner Files:

- for as long as is necessary to fulfil the purposes we collected it for;
- as required by law; or
- To enforce or defend legal claims.

Sometimes we will keep information that you have deleted, for example messages sent by you to your tutor, as a record of your learning experience. We will keep this information for a reasonable time. All documentation is kept securely either in lockable filing cabinets or in password controlled electronic files.

Keeping Personal Data Secure When Away from the Office

Existing or newly-created Learner files and/or other documents containing sensitive information must be returned at your next visit to the office, and this must not exceed 7 calendar days. Until it is returned, all files and documents must be stored securely in one of the following three ways:

- When out in the field, the file/document(s) must be kept in your possession at all times, until it is returned to the office;
- Stored in a lockable, approved* container at your place of residence (e.g. filing cabinet);
- Returned to the office in the allocated lockable filing cabinets.

*Approved: a risk assessment has been completed to assess suitability,

Under NO circumstances should files or documents containing sensitive and/or personal information be left unattended in a car or similar.

If you are unable to store the file/document securely and/or are unable to come to the office, the file/document must be posted to the Showcase Office using the Royal Mail First Class Signed For service immediately (the same day as its creation or removal).

Until it is returned to the office and signed in, the file is the responsibility of the Showcase employee in possession of it. If a file/ document is missing and there is no record of it having been brought to the office, it remains the responsibility of the employee who last accessed or used the file/document (usually the Tutor or enrolment officer). You must utilise the file signing -in sheets to create an audit trail to protect against this.

Erasure

As per ESFA requirements, Apprenticeships data will be stored for 7 years for auditing purposes. After this time period has elapsed, documents will be securely destroyed.

We will periodically archive personal data stored electronically, deleting information 1 year following the closure of a programme; this is for quality purposes with our Awarding Bodies.

Any information not required for audit or quality will be securely destroyed or deleted as soon as the final process has been completed, e.g. deletion of ID documents as soon as a DBS check has come through.

Cyber Essentials

As of July 2021, Showcase Training will hold and maintain Cyber Essential Security accreditation, as recommended by the ESFA. The aim if this is to ensure all colleagues are working in a safe way, maintaining data protection at the forefront of everyday processes. Certification of this accreditation is available.

If you are a tutor

When you are registered as a tutor by a Service Provider you accept that all activity is undertaken by you for the provision of Showcase Training Ltd learning.
